GERMAN TORPEDO BOAT IS MISSING AFTER SEA FIGHT

Two Patrol Boats Destroyed by the British Vessels Which Conveyed Air-Raiders to the Coast of Schleswig-Holstein.

Three of Naval Aeroplanes Which Attacked Aero Depots East of Island of Sylt Are Brought Down.

Berlin Says Enemy Destroy er Was Damaged by Air Bomb; London Says Boat Was in Collision.

LONDON, March 27.-A German torp e boat is missing since the sea fighting which followed the British air raid Saterday morning on German aviation secording to an official German statement received here by wireless.

The statement is as follows: The English naval aeroplane attack h. the North Frisian coast failed com pietely. Two armed fishing steamers on outpost service fell victims to English vessels. Our naval aeroplanes attacked the English naval fighting forces and succeeded in scoring a number of hits and in seriously damaging a torpedoboat destroyer. Of the naval fighting force which we sent immediately only a few torpedo boats came in touch with the retreating enemy during the night of March 25-26. One of these torpedo boats has not yet returned."

Five Acroplanes in Raid, An earlier German statement said:

From two ships which were accompa nied by a cruiser squadron and a flotilla of destroyers, five English hydroaeroplanes started Saturday morning for ar attack against the German aeronauti establishments in Northern Schleswig.

"Not less than three of them, amo which was a fighting aeroplane, wer forced down by the defensive service of and about the Island of Sylt. The in mates of the machines, who were made prisoners, are four English officers and mmissioned officer.

OIL-FILLED SHELLS HURLED AT VERDUN

French Soldiers in Deserted Town Fight Flames Started by German Projectiles.

By Lincoln Eyre.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Disaptch and the New York World. (Copyright, 1916, by Press Pub. Co.) FIELD HEADQUARTERS OF THE FRENCH ARMIES AROUND VER My DUN, March 27.-As if in exasperation over their repeated failure to burst asunder the steel-clad semicircle that defends Verdun, the Germans have beham's Vegetable gun to pour incendiary shell into the Compound and deserted dwellings, apparently with the Blood Purifier I object of setting the entire town in flames.

That they are unlikely to achieve their aim has just been made plain to me in a tour of Verdun and the section of operations on the right bank of the Meuse-the first visit of the kind which has been vouchsafed to the correspondent of any individual neutral newspaper since the start of the Crown Prince's

While the general bombardment of the French position from Cote Du ably. Verdun itself continues to receive its daily quota of 400 or 500 projectiles ranging in caliber from 150 to 380 milli-

Two hours before I entered Verdun yesterday morning several score of shells had landed among some houses and a dozen fires were burning wickedly in the evacuated residential quarters. The General commanding in the citadel ded me to various points of interest n the city, which is considerably less Soldiers Quench Flames. It is considerably less damaged, for instance, than was Rheims when I visted it in August last. With the systematic efficiency which has characterized all branches of French military activity since the battle of the Marne, but which has reached its highest level in the defense of Verdun under Gen. Petain, bodies of soldiers especially qualified for that duty were calmly engaged n quenching the flames.

There was no confusion, no lack of preparedness for the eventuality, difficult to foresce-inasmuch as waging war doesn't mean setting fire to empty towns. Regular firemen putting out a blaze couldn't be cooler or more selfpossessed than the French officers and men who, at a moment's notice, were called on to grapple with a dozen fires in a comparatively small area.

And remember that when a German ncendiary shell does its work properly We maintain a travel bureau at it spreads sheets of flame through a Despite the proximity of the various flame centers, each fire was under con

I left M. Clement smiling contentedly even as he razed upon the ruin of his property, and I realized suddenly how Frenchmen were able to stand firm in the high explosive inferno at Douau ment, Vaux and L'Homme Mort (Dead Man's Hill) that the Queen City of Locraine might remain unsoiled by the footprints of the invaders.

Petain Not in Verdun. I didn't see Gen. Petain at verdun. He eldom visits the town itself, because there is nothing of any strategic im-portance there. former Gov. Joseph W. olk, chief ounsel for the Interstate Commerce ne Planters Hotel today with his potical advisers to determine whether here is strong enough demand for him for Governor to justify him in resigning his position in Washington and entering the contest for the non-ination.
Folk is asking a great many questions, but is not giving out much information as to what his intentions are. He was n conference this morning with Ewing . Mitchell of Springfield, Hal Woodside of West Plains, William Culp of St. Louis, Lon Sanders, and several others, and had meetings yesterday with W. D. Vandiver, John C. Roberts and oth-onditions were ripe for him to enter the ontest. Culp said that the issues that arose at the St. Joseph convention have nade a very strong demand for Folk. Mitchell has also been strongly urging Folk to make the race ever since the ight of Excise Commissioner Rumsey of St. Louis, made the subject of law enforcement in the cities an issue that will be carried into the campaign for Reed in St. Louis. United States Senator Reed of Kansas City is also in St. Louis, having come rom Washington on the same train with Folk. Reed is going to Kansas City to make speeches for Mayor Jost, who was renominated by the Democrats month ago. The municipal election will be held in Kansas City next Tuesday. Senator Reed said he was not familiar enough with the situation there now to undertake to discuss it in an in terview, but added that Mayor Jost was regularly nominated by the Democratic party, and he assumed that all Demoerats would support him.

The Pendergast faction in Kansas City, which has always been friendly to Senator Reed, has been threatening penly to "knife" the Democratic muicipal ticket to get even with Joseph B. Shannon, the rival boss, who tri imphed in the city primaries.
Senator Reed declined to discuss the

No Fear of Carransa.
"There are many people in the United States who want us to go in and take Mexico," Senator Reed continued. "But such is not the President's program. The expedition into Mexico is purely to get Villa, and the Government at Washington has no fear that Gen. Carranza. head of the de facto Government, will not co-operate with our troops in cap-

"The people who want us to take Mexico are people, of course, who want to make money for themselves. One of my riends suggested to me that we ought to take Mexico immediately. He gave as the reason that he knew a tract of 30,000 acres of land in Mexico, which he ould buy for 10 cents an acre. With he American flag flying over Mexico and with that property under the pro-tection of American courts, he said the land would be worth $30 an acre. It was easy to figure out why he wanted to take Mexico.

WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION

Women who know the Companion well find the Companion much more than something to read. They find a friend.

The things I would say in recommending my friend to you are the things that ought to be said about the Companion-if you do not already know the Companion.

For instance—here is an intimate little story that will give you an idea of how some women regard the Companion.

Following the Better Babies movement came the need for the "Expectant Mothers' Circle," which was established less than two years ago. Since then more than 20,000 mothers-in-waiting have written the Companion.

Aren't you curious to get acquainted with a magazine that so many women find such a sin-cere, dependable friend that they will write to it about things they hesitate to discuss except with most intimate friends?

Little Theater Comedy, at Shubert, Hardly Qualifies for the Uplift.

PLAYGOERS' GUIDE.

"A Pair of Silk Stockings," Shubert. Well-acted E28lish comedy; plot approaches limit of permissibility; dialogue sometimes passes it.

Vaudeville. Columbia. Ralph Herz, comedian, and "The River of Souls," Chinese play, on bill. Vaudeville. Grand. "Which Shall I Marry?" heads bill. Melodrama, Hippodrome. "At Piney Ridge."

Burlesque, Standard. "Mis-chief Makers." Burlesque, Gayety. Billy Watson and Ed Lee Wrothe. PHOTOPLAYS.

"The Birth of a Nation," Olympic. Last week. American, "Hoodoo Ann."
"The Raiders," and comedy King's, "Martha's Vindica-tion" and three other films.

New Grand Central. Marie Walcamp in "The Flirt."

By CARLOS F. HURD. HE keynote of "A Pair of Silk Stockings" gets itself uttered when the Captain, intruder by chance in divorcee's bedroom, asks if he may main to smoke a cigarette. "Ought you to?" asks the divorcee, chly.

"Well, then, you may," is the reply.
The whole second act of this play by Cyril Harcourt, seen at the Shubert last ght, is an exhibition of fancy skating on the thin ice of permissibility, with cracks of salacity opening now and then at one side and letting in an obze of suggestiveness which never quite over-

Polished dialogue, and the deft acting of Sam Sothern and his associates, itigate the offense of the plot-or agre rigid view. The play comes here Little Theater. These playhouses of intimate dimensions are usually thought of as part of the movement to uplift he drama. In view of this play, and of a local amateur event of a few nights ago, some unkind person may presently be asking who is to uplift the little

As the blithering and squiffy Sam re marks, things are "a bit thick" in the regular action of the play, and the speeches and situations indispensable to plot are quite suggestive enough. But there are two things which do not seem necessary to the plot, but which are thrown in for good measure, that no one may fail to get his fill of smart weekedness. The first is the divorce's wickedness. The first is the divorcee's peculation as to the behavior of the nauffeur and her maid, whom she says stalled car. The story of the stalled car all swank, it develops near the close. The other thing which seems unnecessary, and which detracts from the pleas-antness of the play's ending, is the length of the stay which the captain makes in the bedroom into which he ikes in the bedroom into which he he mistaken entrance, the capture of the supposed burglar—who was really the divorced husband, hiding in a closet get a chance to explain matters-and he appearance of the captain's flancee after the burglar, chucked in the bath-room, has escaped—these are the essential things in the situation. That the captain should prolong his visit in the room, and should try to revive his old ried so far that he is hardly entitled to the final scene, from his flancee.

There are other lines in the second act which are not required by dramatic or artistic considerations, and which tend to lessen the sympathy with which the divorcee is regarded when the hostess attempts to wither her with the appellaion of "Rahab."

Sothern's Work Artistic. Sam Sothern appears in the title role. That last sentence looks like a blunder in writing, but it isn't. Sam is in the silk stockings. First they are tied about his ankles by way of binding him, and at the end he turns up jolly well wearng them on his own tidy feet

Sam's handling of the whisky and oda, in proportions most flattering to the distiller, and his defense of his own pre-divorce conduct, were two of the best laughs of the performance. "I was as innocent as the wayside flowerlet," he insists. Admitting that he bestowed a pair of sables on a woman who bought her hair at the chemist's, he argues that this scene, and throughout the play, Sothern takes the part of Sam Thornhil, the divorced husband, in that most effective and most diffi-cult comedy fashion which consists

Eva Leonard-Boyne (that hyphen s in the program) appears as the wife, quite too young and pretty for such a blighter as her ex-husband. Alison Skipworth is the portly host-ess, who first condones divorce by teling of the weariness of having a husband "on your hands, on your nerves and on your pillow," but who later washes her hands of the scan-dal beneath her roof, and flees to her dal beneath her roof, and flees to her vicar. Wallace Erskine appears as the host, who admits that "every man, at some time of his life, gets into a cupboard." P. Clayton Greene played the Captain's role with romantic finish, and Edward Douglas was a diverting young Briton in the amateur theatricals of the first act, which are so badly rehearsed as to cause the hostess to declare that "there's a degree of incompetence which even the British public refuses to stand for."

SECOND SERIES GAME FOR ROBISON FIELD

THERE will be a lull on the local baseball battle front for five days, the Cardinals resuming their offensive against the Browns next Saturday at Robison Field in the second game of the series. The third game is booked for next Sunday at Sportsman's Park, while no date has yet been assigned for the postponed clash of last Saturday.

Neither team practiced this morning because of inclement weather. However, the Browns were on hand early and listened to a lecture by Fielder Jones.

By W. J. O'Connor.

A Cardinal victory yesterday, 4-1, in the belated opening of the spring series proved nothing more than that 12,000 famished fans will go to a ball game in any kind of weather. It was a day for reefers and mittens; but, despite the inclemency, both clubs earned enough at the gate to almost clear their training the gate to almost clear their training expenses.

Incidentally the cictory of the National Leaguers will serve to increase the attractiveness of the remaining games. The Browns were 3-to-5 favorites in the betting in yesterday's game and 7-to-10 on the series.

Dope went wrong, everywhere. The "pony" infield of Miller Huggins' team completely outplayed the more seasoned veterans of the Browns, Great pinch plays by Betzel, Beck and Hornsby carried Bob Steele, the youthful southpaw, to victory.

Bob Steele, the youthful southpaw, to victory.

Egregious errors by Pratt, Austin and Paulette dragged Dave Davenport and his conferes to defeat. The Browns couldn't hit, getting only three clean smacks, albeit each of these was for extra bases. One of Pratt's hits was tainted.

Fielder Jones staked his chances on Dave Davenport's speed; but it wasn't there. Everything favored the altitudinous Texan, if he was right; but unfortunately for the Browns, he was wrong. He lacked control and his fast ball. Weilman, who succeeded him, was in perfect stroke and yielded nothing that remotely resembled a run.

Defense of Browns Was Weak.

However, it wasn't altogether Davenport's fault. A more solidified defense would have saved him in hammered in three runs, enough to Cruise opened this inning with a Spiked! Cruise opened this inning with a walk. Clarence Walker's delinquency afield then gave Bruno Betzel a double on what should have been an out, or at worst a single. Walker was playing too deep and too close to the line for Betzel.

Bruno is mostly a left-field hitter. Walker failed to "swing around," when he came up, and when Bruno reached for one on the outside and sliced it to right, Walker was "20 miles away." He came in as fast as he could in the mud, overran the ball and left, it to Sisier. The latter was there in the pinch with a perfect throw to Pratt as Cruise rounded third. It was foolish baseball to send Cruise in. His finish was seen by everybody in the park. But then came the unexpected: Pratt pegged high to Hartley and the ball golled to the stand. Cruise, who should have been out standing up, scoring with ease. No-body backed up on the play and Betzel also tallied. Hornsby surprised with a single over second and Snyder then coaxed a pass.

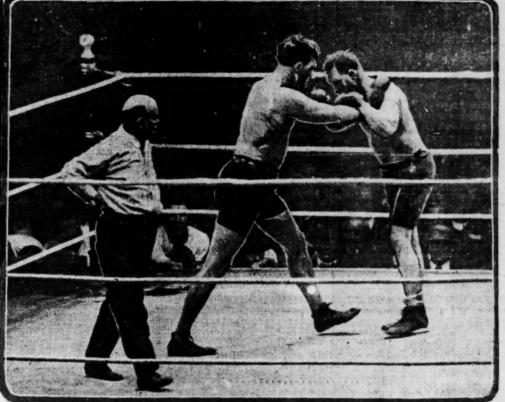

Jones figured the percentage here. There were runners on first and second, nobody out and it was certain that Steele, the Cardinal pitcher, would bunt. Davenport can't field bunts, so Jones exercised the recall. Wellman went in and pitched carefully.

But Steele succeeded in bunting, after he had two strikes, proving that the Cardinals couldn't do anything wrons. Austin pierced the heart of every Brown fan by booting Bescher's a nemic grounder. Betzel scoring. Beck fanned and Smith was easy on a lofter to Walker.

He snatched another hit from Clemons in the eighth on a one-handed stab of a line drive. Beck cut down what looked like a hit for Walker in the first, while Hornsby was in front of Wellman's well-designed line drive in the fifth.

Swimming Notes

One of the rules for fancy diving recently adopted by the National Collegiate Athletic Association has received a great deal of unfavorable comment. Harry Hebner writes. It prescribes that a tape shall be stretched six feet from the end of the board, and that in all jackknives the judges shall make the isual awards to contestants touching without breaking it, but mark a zero if the yarn is hit and snapped.

The rule in other words, forces the officials to inflict a penalty of about seven or eight points on the man who grazes the tape hard enough to part it, while a rival landing one inch nearer who may have shown identical skill in other yarticulars is allowed practically full tally. The penalty is out of proportion to the fault involved.

That was in that seventh round. Then he wilted, and to prove that he has nothing, I fought him off his feet and sent him to his corner wincing.

Was Jess in Trouble?

"When I had him against the ropes in that round his jaws were wide open and the saliva was running out of his mouth. That was purely dis-tress. It does seem to me that a champion should have done a little nore fighting. Goodness knows what and waited as he did.

"I know now that I made many mistakes in the fight. It's pretty hard to get to a man who won't come to you a bit. Jess is a good blocker, and there isn't a man in the world right now that he couldn't stand off for 10 rounds, because of his unusual reach. He'll never be in good fettle again. Even his most ardent adnirers were amazed at his bad show of condition. His boxing saved him.

ST. LOUIS TENPIN MEN PLAN TO QUIT

New Association May Be Formed as Result of Expected Break With A. B. C.

The St. Louis Tenpin Association is angry at the American Bowling Congress. This comes about because the local body, with 417 teams, had its candidate beaten at Toledo. Henry C. Menne, president of the local body. Menne, president of the local body, was a candidate for a vice presidency.

C. worked in har-Midwest and A. B. C. worked in harmony, but that time is passed. If the new association is formed, Sweeney says it will have the support of St. Louis.

Another thing Sweeney does not like is the way the schedule is framed. He points out that Sykes Thoma of Chicago, who is leader in the all-events at Toledo, rolled his nine games on the same pair of alleys. Others were not so fortunate and could not get accustomed to the run of the drives.

Sweeney also gives credit for the record entry at Toledo to the Toledo officials and not to the higher-ups in the A. B. C.

Deen Boosts Jarrett's Standing. Harry Deen, substituting for Brace Jarrett in the all-star individual tournament on Peterson's alleys, shot the latter into faret place by walloping Con Fuerman, four out, of five, totaling 992 against 850 for his fival Deen's high game was a 215, while Fuerman's best single effort netted him 205. One of the big surprises yesterday came when Gus Randall, counting 988 walloned Louis Waldecker five straight. The latter bad a total of 888. In the other matches rolled yesterday, Oscar Whitehead took the odd gains from Jerry Ameling, while Jul Schmitt trounced Emil Hilker Sour out of five. Whitehead with 222 in his fifth game uncorked the high single effort of the day. Peterson's alleys, shot the latter into FIELDER JONES went to the limit to win. He used three pitchers, two pinch-hitters and two shortstops. Incidentally he used one man who isn't under contract to the club, and probably never will be. In the eighth inning. after Otis Crandall was called out on strikes in lieu of John Lavan, Bill McKechinie went to short for the Browns. McKechnie is the property of Harry Sinclair, late of Newark. Bill managed Sinclair's club last season and drew down a mere matter of $8000. He has a contract which calls for a similar amount for the current season and also for 1917. This contract is his greatest defect. Nobody wants to pay him that price and consequently he's not working, although his pay will start April 12.

McKechnie worked out with the Browns in Palestine, but his expenses were paid by Sinclair. He was ticketed to depart for other fields, having finished his job of getting le shape with the Browns, but may be retained now that Jones has seen fit to me him lay a cortion of that $8000.

McKechnie's greatest asset is his aggressiveness. He's the gamest Scotchman in baseball.

Charles Chouteau Johnson in Air Two Hours Each Day Watching for Enemy.

Charles Chouteau Johnson, 24 years old, a member of the old Chouteau family of St. Louis and now in the flying corps charged with the defense of Paris, has written a letter to his uncle, Edward V. Papin of 4642 Berlin avenue ward V. Papin of 4642 Berlin avenue describing the training requirements he underwent to qualify for the French aviation corps. Johnson's duties at Paris require him to be in the air two hours each day. While in the air he drives a Voisin aeroplane around the city on constant watch for enemy aircraft, and is armed with

"I finished my training at Pau on a Bleriot monoplane on Jan. 2," Johnson O wrote. "Perhaps you may be interested in the sort of tests that we pilots have to go through before getting our military brevete (license). First you go through the ordinary stages of learning. Woman Thought She Could Bluff Officer Who Was Taking Husband Back to Texas.

SHOT TO SAVE OWN LIFE

Arrest Was Expected and Plans for Escape Had Been Carefully Made.

Special to the Post-Dispatch MUSKOGEE, Ok., March 27.-Mrs. Ida Lee Hadley, who killed her old friend, Sheriff Jake Giles of Beaumont, Tex. on a passenger train last Friday when he was taking her husband back to Beaumont to answer to charges of theft and assault to murder, gaily worked at a piece of crocheting in a dingy cell in the McIntosh County Jail today and discussed her crime with no apparent fear of the electric chair. She freely admits that she killed Sheriff Giles and declares that when she married Hadley last January she knew that rouble would come. When they were leeing from Texas they realized that coner or later they would be arrested, she said, and they planned to fight, if ecessary, to escape. That is how the bride came to carry a revolver in her hand bag. She told how she shot Giles with it when the Katy Limited train, on which they were riding into Glies with it when the Katy Limited train, on which they were riding into Checotah last Thursday morning.

"I took a drinking cup out of my bag and went to the water cooler," she said.

"There I took my revolver from the hand bag and stuck it in my belt. Then I walked back down the aisle toward the Sheriff. This was a prearranged signal. When Paul saw me coraing he rose from his seat and stepped away from the Sheriff. I nointed the revolver at the Sheriff. I nointed the revolver at ake and told him to hold up his hands. That was the way we had planned to ake his revolver away from him, stop the train, drop off, hold up an automo file and flee across the country.

Sheriff Wouldn't Be Bluffed.
But Jake could not be bluffed. He eached for his revolver. Then it was ip to me to shoot or get shot. I fired and I killed him. I had not thought would have to do that. Then Paul rabbed the Sheriff's revolver. He made the auditor stop the train. I held back getting into Checotah, though we did ot know it at the time. We fled across the country. Oh, it was awful. Through parbed-wire fences, through thickets and cross branches filled with water, and We finally reached a farmhouse. It was still dark. We offered them money to et us stay in the barn.

"Early next morning the farmer go: up and started for Checotah. The min-ute he was out of sight we hired his boy to drive up to Canadian bottoms.

The boy left us at a farmhouse and started back. The posse met him and he told about us.

"We had expected to meet an automo bile on the country roads and our plan was to make the driver take us a long distance through the rough country and drop us at some railroad point, where we would get another train. We did not find the auto and the officers found us, and so we are here.

"But I am all right. I'll get out of this. I am not worried. A woman reporter who drove to Texana, 15 miles from a railroad, and near where the Hadleys were captured, saw "I saw the officers coming with the prisoners handcuffed together," she said. "When they stopped Hadley picked his wife up and carried her in his arms woman who was willing to fight and to kill for her mate was a pitiable object. A pretty girl she is, too, 22 years old, with brown eyes, black hair and a few freckles. I followed them on to Checo-tah and talked to them at the Gentry Hotel. Then the officers took the Had leys to Eufaula and I went along. There they were put in separate cells. There are two negro men in the cell next to Mrs. Hadley. She hung up a blanket between the cells in the afternoon.

"She laughed merrily to me and said she was cleaning house. She sent out into the little town to buy two middy blouses and two light skirts. Hadley is

Be Just to Mexico.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

History repeats itself in the case of Mexico and the United States. In 1846 an American expedition under Zachary Taylor seized Mexican territory without color or right and precipitated war between the two countries which resulted in the acquisition by us of California and New Mexico, as well as the admission of other states into the Union. Money compensation for Mexico afterwards followed, but money does not always soothe wounded national pride or make amends for inage merely, he and other unscrupulous leaders have fertile soil to work upon in arousing Mexican hatred of the "Gringoes." The best way to avoid never by foresight? international ill-feeling is to act justly towards neighbors, even if the latter are not to be classed with the best.

It is true that in later years the United States upheld the sovereignty of Mexico even against the bumpers of an incoming freight car and such an old friend as France, when she virtually landed in our city hospital with a new bump settled the Napoleonic dream of a continental empire by ordering Maximilian out of the land of the Aztecs. Walking Vacation, Tours To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch

Vacation time is close at hand. A great many are much for the enjoying of their few days off; the through the suburbs of St. Louis and this summer I would like to make a continuous walk of about seven days within a hundred miles of St. Louis and I take this means through your paper of obtaining the information from some of your readers who are walkers and perhaps can figure out uring the day and shelter at night, or the health end, if one could carry shelter tent, cook outfit and provisions, a complete

THE LIARS OF THE RIO GRANDE.

President Wilson discovers "sinister and uncrupulous influences that invent and circulate irritating reports with the design of creating misunderstanding between the Government of the United States and the provisional Government of Mexico.

To this class of reports probably belong those asserting a disguised hostility on the part of the Carranza forces, describing revolts by Carranza leaders, predicting that, being in Mexico, our cleaned up, and taking a generally pessimistic organization. view of the Pershing expedition.

The liars of the Rio Grande are not amiable, well-intentioned liars who aim only at interesting the reading public. As established to the satisfacabout "intervention in the interest of certain American owners of Mexican properties." They misrepresent our intentions and disparage the Mexicans in ways sure to .: rouse resentment and sus, cion.

No reputable news association, no reputable newspaper will disregard the President's appeal to patriotism, and the "traffic in falsehood," as Mr. Wilson calls it, should be suppressed.

Both the reading public and those who deal in publicity are put on their guard by the President's warning. Tainted news, an abomination at any time, becomes outlawed, criminal news when manufactured in the design of causing crises in our international relations.

The Provident Association's best work is the finding of employment for willing workers.

PREPAREDNESS VS. UNPREPAREDNESS.

At the beginning of the present war Russia had a standing army of 1,200,000; Germany, 634,-000; France, 634,000; Austria-Hungary, 327,000; England, 255,000, and Japan, 230,000. The United States had 81,000. All the other nations in the list have multiplied their trained and equipped soldiers by 10. We still have 81,000; yet we talk about protecting our rights, our trade, our wealth and our country against assault by any nation. Among the armed and greedy nations we are a baby with our hands full of candy.

The American people annually spend $3,000,-000,000 for immoral indulgences, $800,000,000 for jewelry, $500,000,000 for automobiles and $452,-000,000 for candy and soft drinks, yet begrudge only $245,000,000 for inadequate insurance against war and its disasters. Isn't it time to spend less on pleasure and more on national security?

Shall the American people be inefficient or efficient, careless or careful, wise or foolish? Shall the various contestants will lose, the game might we as a nation always be guided by hindsight, he worth the while. But the winnings will consti-

MR. MEEKER'S LITERARY TEST.

The literary test of the Burnett immigration bill is none the less objectionable than former tests because it exempts migrants who come here on account of persecution in their own

> SPEAKER CLARK'S CHEAP ANSWER. To the citizens of St. Louis who sent a telegram to the President and the Missouri delegation in Congress, urging support of adequate national defenses for the present emergency and universal compulsory military training and service, Speaker Clark's answer is an invitation tojoin the army.

The answer is cheap. It is discreditable to the Speaker's fairness, intelligence and patriotism tion of the President, their purpose is to bring No provision has been made by Congress for an adequate army if these citizens wanted to join and were accepted. Few American citizens have any military training and a very large percentage would be rejected on account of age and physical disabilities.

It is no reflection on the patriotism or the courage of an American that he is not in the phantom army Congress has provided, or that he doesn't want to serve in it in time of peace. There is no room for them in the army, and the country does not want a regular army large enough to accommodate one-half of 1 per cent of the population. Yet Clark tries to divert attention from congressional neglect and folly by unfairly reflecting on the standard of citizenship and motive of the citizens who are trying to do their duty to the country by making their epresentatives do their duty.

The plan of universal training and service that Mr. Wade, Mr. Lambert and the citizens who indorsed the telegram urged upon Congress will compel every citizen available for military service to serve in the army and to train thoroughly for service. It covers the very point that Speaker Clark tried in a feeble, demagogic way to make against them. It requires them and all other citizens to respond to the country's call and to be ready for the call.

THE LOADED DICE OF WAR. "There will be neither victors nor vanquished in this war," says Herr Haase, Herr Bebel's successor in the German Parliament. What prizes of the war can compensate for the fearful price that must be paid for them? If the winner gained all tute only a negligible part of the total losses. The victors will be distinguished from the vanquished only by slight differences in the crushing weight of disaster imposed. GIVE US THE TRAINING CAMP!

It is good news that the Secretary of War thinks favorably of a military training camp for St. Louis. The camp would be a civic benefit as well as military and a good investment of time, energy and interest, come peace or war.

Secondary to the military purpose, the physica exercise, discipline, good food and association formed based on hard work in camp, which wil elbow in the ranks, with benefits and results of purpose make better and more understanding and more efficient citizens of them all.

The whole effect of the training must be to deepen the individual's sense of responsibility as a unit of the community and servant of the nation, to say no more of the physical and moral benefits. An advisory committee of university presidents made a recent report on the camps, which have been in operation three summers, and this is their finding:

The excellence of food, sanitation and medical care has been well maintained. The students have an ideal five weeks' outling. pleasurable and beneficial to them; and the instruction, drill, cavalry exercises, field maneuvers, field surveying and field work generally give them in the continuous five weeks' training, an insight into military matters. They are, in addition to this regular work, given ample time for recreation and rest. We commend the camps to the authorities and students of the universities and colleges of the country. We believe that the training and instruction which the students attending receive not only emphasize the dangers and losses of the wars lightly and unpreparedly entered into, but we also believe that the training given is excellent, and a great benefit, mental and physical, to the students attending.

Attendance at the camp is not tantamount to enlistment in the army. It increases neither legal nor moral obligation to serve in case of war. Men come out of it as free as when they entered, but better citizens. President Wilson explained in not financially fixed so that they can spend very Americans of native and foreign origin which a recent message the idea on which the camps cheaper and most healthy way in my estimat'on to every little while makes its appearance in our are organized: "It will be right enough, right spend one's vacation is walking a walking trip history. OUR HOMEMAKER. HERE the mountains slope to the westward, And their purple chalices hold The new-made wine of the sunset, Orimson and amber and gold-In this old, wide-open doorway, With the elm boughs overhead. The house all garnished behind her.

And the plentiful table spread. She had stood to welcome our coming, Watching our upward climb, In the sweet June weather that brought us, Oh! many and many a time! Today, in the gentle splendor Of the early summer noon-Perfect in sunshine and fragrance,

Although it is hardly June-Again is her doorway opened. And her heart is garnished and sweet; But she silently waits for our coming. And we enter with silent feet. A little within she is waiting; Not where she had met us before; For over the pleasant threshold

She is only to cross once more. The smile on her face is quiet, And a lily on her breast. Her hands are folded together, And the word on her lips is "rest." And yet it looks like a welcome,

For her work is compassed and done; All things are seemly and ready. And her summer is just begun. It is we who may not cross over:

Only with song and prayer A little way into glory We may reach, as we leave her there. But we cannot think of her idle: She must be a homemaker still;

IN SIGNS. At Fourteenth and Washington: Tomato Bullion A sign in Nakawn, Siam: Ice Cream's

And somewhere yet on the hilltops

Of the country that hath no pain

She will watch in her beautiful doorway

Who fittest the task fulfill;

To bid us a welcome again.

R OBERT had telephoned he would be late. How late he did not say, and had rung off before Jane had time to ask him.

It was 11 o'clock when he finally left the office. When he got on the train the first person he saw was Marion Law-rence, who moved along and made place for him beside her.
"You look tired," she said sympathet ically, then launched into a description of the play she had just seen. When they reached Westland, she insisted that Robert come in and have a bite of supper with her. "I always have omething when I get home late, something hot. It will be all ready, so won't

"What time is it?" came from the bed. "Nearly midnight, I guess." "Nearer 1 o'clock, think you'll find; the lock struck 12 long before you came in. "I'm sorry I had to leave you alone tonight, dear, but I was obliged to stay. I suppose I should be glad to have a good job, even if I do have to work overtime." Jane made no answer. She was turning things over in her mind.

"Please don't be cross, Jane," he begged. "I don't enjoy staying in the office all the evening any better than you like to have me." "WERE you in the office all the evening?" "Of course! Where did you think I was?" impatiently. "At Marion Lawrence's, perhaps."

"I was there for a few moments on my way home. She had been to the theater," Robert went on to explain, "and was in the train when I got in. Of course, we walked along together and she asked me to come in and have a hot supper with her. As I had only a cold bite since luncheon, I accepted. I knew there would be nothing hot here -because I had told you to go to bed," he tried to apologize. Awake and Pondering.

eorge D. Markham Will Presen bject of $10,000 Tour Fund to Help Advertise St. Louis.

"The St. Louis Symphony Orchestra' will be the subject considered by the St Louis Jovian League of Electrical In-terests tomerrow at its weekly luncheon at the American Annex. Hanford Craw-ford, as chairman, will introduce George D. Markham, who will speak concerning the orchestra.

The St. Louis Symphony Society is en leavoring to create a tour fund of $10,000, that the orchestra may better serve St. Louis as an advertising me dium by making tours through the trade territory. It is the purpose of the Symony Society to present the Symphoorchestra as a business asset to the arious commercial and civic organiza tions and solicit their co-operation and Louis Symphony Society, which has just ompleted its most successful season, ow working on a $50,000 campaign, of the purpose of increasing the orchestra

NEW TRIAL DENIED MANICURIST

A new trial of the suit of Miss Ruth Ray Stout, a Chicago manicure, who asked $50,000 for breach of promis from Arnold Stedman Ernest, was denied today by Judge Louis Bernreuter in the Belleville Circuit Court. A jury at the trial, March 9, which lasted several lavs, awarded her $150.

In refusing a new trial, Judge Berneuter said that the only thing that ury had considered the question of damages for injured feelings, but had arived at no decision. Neither principa that Vassar College was located at Yonkers, New York. We knew better, of course. It was just a slip: one of those obvious mistakes that everybody sees when it is too late. The mistake was made in the smallest kind of type, like this-

We said once

We got 5,000 letters telling us that Vassar College was located at Poughkeepsie.

We were glad to be corrected, but we were particularly glad to realize we were so carefully read that a mistake printed in the smallest type failed not only to "get by" but 5,000 persons took the pains to tell us.

It says a good deal when a magazine is so carefully read. If you wonder why, just get a copy of

"Even before the opening of the Stock Exchange today, such testimony as was available seemed to be pointing to the German submarines as the guilty party.
In Wall street's view—and Wall street can be impetuous enough—the thing was not proved conclusively; it was stils case in which a murder was discovered when Jack the Ripper was known to have been in the neighborhood. But the drift of opinion would be reason ably certain, even if nothing else were to be positively known, and therefore the feeling of bewilderment, migled (it must be said with execration) governed the early course of affairs of the Stock Exchange today. Active sincks opened to 1 point under Saturday's closing and went lower in the early trading.

"The midday hours brought news of the grave view taken of the matter by our State Department; later on there was published the German Ambassador's intimation that, if this was actually another of Germany's submarine exploits, it was done in defiance of the civil government; that it would be 'disavowed' and that the commander would be punished.

Wall Street is Releved.

"This seemed in a way to relieve the mind of Wall street, and the market, itself recovered cautiously. Yet it is possible that even the Stock Exchange will begin to ask what sort of situation would have been created, and with what conceivable consequences, if the navy of a great European Power were so imbued with the fercetty of its discarded chief as to refuse obedience to the responsible heads of Government.

"So many things have happened, since fully, 1914, which no man in his senses had before that date conceived to be possible, that nothing is nowadays resected as inconceivable. But as to what the actual result would be—whether in the European war itself, or in the coming debate of the Reichstag, or in the relations of the United States to Germany—no confi

News From Mexico.

"Not much else was seriously discussed in financial circles. The news from Mexico, such as it was, engaged some attention, and there was pretense here and there of regarding developments in that quarter as the dominant influence. It may play such a part hereafter, but nobody seriously believed that it did so today, and the Stock Exchange has begun to acept as an established tradition the riskiness of attempting to discount aalrming developments south of the Rio Grande.

"This morning's early declines were followed by irregular recovery in the afternoon, which in numerous cases retraced all the lost ground of the forenoon. But there was no spontaneous movement and most of the later activity was contributed by notoriously manipulated industrials. The railway shares did not vary much imprice as a rule.

"Of routine financial news, there was very little. Exchange moved fractionally in favor of Berlin and against Paris; sterling did not change at al. The compiled statement of the Federal reserve banks did not throw much light on the continuous weekly outflow of gold from the New York associated banks, except that the gold reserve banks did not throw much light on the continuous weekly outflow of gold from the New York associated banks, except that the gold reserve banks did not throw much light on the continuous weekly outflow of gold from the New York associated banks, except that the gold reserve banks did not throw much light on the continuous weekly increasing."

WHEAT IS HIGHER ON THE CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, March 27.—Wheat hardened in value today, helped by contradiction of reports that American lives had been lost by the torpedoing of the Sussex. At first, however, the market showed weakness as a result of lower quotations from Liverpool and absence of further rains in the domestic winter crop. belt. The bears had some advantage too for a time, owing to predictions of larger to the contradiction of the larger state of the contradiction of the larger state of the contradiction of the larger state of the larger state

There was a firm tone in the local wheat market today, after an opening dip in values based on Liverpool cables unchanged to 2d lower.

Traders were wary of taking the seiling side, despite the uncertain foreign outlook, good rains over the winter wheat belt and fine weather for seeding spring wheat. Big primary receipts as compared with last year also were 15-nored by the trade. The market closed firm and over le above Saturday's finish. Corn and oats also scored sharp fractional gains.

The Liverpool cable said:

"The wheat market was dull and easy today, with free arrivals, increasing stocks and weakness in spots. Spot market was weak, unchanged to 2d lower, with pressure of Argentiae grades. Cargo market opened dull, Manitobas nominally un-hanged, winters 2d lower, and later the entire list became easy with free Plats offers. Shipments to the United Kingdom were slightly under expectations, but this was offset by free arrivals. by free arrivals.

A PLEA FOR THE OTHER FELLOW.

I KNOW an old man who has lived all alone for 55 years of his life. achelor's existence is all he has known He's scoffed at the thought of a wife. He smiles when he tells of the fun he has seen-how he and "the boys" madthings sizz, but down in his heart is a yearning still keen for something that's never been his. He's never had time to get married, he'll say, for courting does take up one's time. His work, he'il declare, always got in his way. Excuses like these are a crime. There's always a moment to hold someone hand and whisper sweet nothings to And Cupid is ever abroad in the land, out hunting for hearts as it were. This fellow I speak of is waiting to die. That's all—life holds nothing for him. He thinks of what might have been his, grim. He's rich, but his money can't do any good. It's cost him far more than it's brought, and gladly he'd trade it, if only he could, for that which his heart's ever sought. And now for a postscript! You're welcome, fair ones I'm boosting the cause all I can. It's leap year-the scoreboard will show many runs if you will but follow the plan that custom maps out in the search for a mate. 'Tis folly for you to be slow What's that—am I married? Oh, hesitate—wait! I'm terribly busy, you know

OT long ago a certain man who wished to get Earl Kitchener's real opinion about the war invited him to dinner. Throughout the meal he tried to make up his mind to question the great soldier, but his courage failed him. After the dinner, as the host was re-turning with Kitchener to the War Office, he took his courage in both hands

"Well, what is the latest about the war?"
Kitchener looked at him for a momen in mild surprise. Then he gave him one of the rare smiles.

fixed on him.

First of all the old gentleman lay down on the platform. Then one man came forward and tried in vain to lift im. Two others came to his aid, and between them they raised the Squire. who was rather portly.

The actions were meant to represent the motto "Union is strength." When they had finished the Squire stepped forward and asked if any child had solved the puzzle.

At once a grubby hand shot up an an eager voice squealed:

"Let sleeping dogs lie."
